

Staycation, anyone?

Summertime can be a time of travel. But it can also be an opportunity to explore what's in your own backyard. Because our communities have supported the SCFD for more than 30 years, our backyard is filled with world class theater, music and events as well as art and culture expressed through festivals and other chances to interact with what makes us special as Coloradans. If you're finding travel is not in the cards for you this summer, we welcome you to stay right here with us and explore the wonder all around you.

We fund culture.

HOW SCFD WORKS

For every $10 spent in the metro Denver area, one penny of the sales tax goes directly to arts, culture and science organizations of all sizes with nearly 300 organizations funded.

SCFD

During 2020, organizations from across the sector lost about a decade's worth of financial growth. That's why funding you make possible through the SCFD is so critical. In 2021, you provided $75 million in stabilizing funding to ensure that our arts and cultural organizations endure. New organizations join the SCFD each year

Every year, organizations who are not currently part of the SCFD can apply to be eligible to receive funding. This process is the first step organizations take to become part of the SCFD funding family. Since voters conceived of the SCFD 30 years ago, the number of organizations supported by the district has grown to more than 300. You can learn more about the process

SCFD Board of Directors news

The SCFD is governed by a board of directors with representation from district member counties Adams, Arapahoe, Boulder, Broomfield, Denver, Douglas, and Jefferson. The board oversees district funding and ensures the district is running the way voters intended. The board meets eight times a year and all meetings are open to the public.

- The next meeting of the SCFD Board of Directors will be held at 1 p.m. on July 28 at the Arvada Center located at 6901 Wadsworth Blvd. in Arvada. Get information for joining meetings and see the full calendar of 2022 board meetings.
